

Stephen Faulkner McClure

stephenfmclure@gmail.com stephenfmclure.com
773 490 5276

Passionate linguist and language teacher, totally focused on student success.

EXPERIENCE

2018 – pres: Visiting Lecturer, Tutorium in Intensive English, University of Illinois at Chicago

- Teach courses in intensive academic English.

2017 – 2018: Visiting Lecturer, Acting Director, German Basic Language Program, University of Illinois at Chicago

- Taught courses in German language and culture.
- Coördinated the UIC German Basic Language Program – coached and mentored graduate student instructors, managed the program for continuous improvement.

2013 – 2017: ESL Instructor, DePaul University English Language Academy

- Taught conversation, reading, writing and grammar at various proficiency levels.
- Conducted new student orientation tours, supervised and proctored TOEFL exams.
- Tutored and counselled students as needed.
- Taught a graduate course in linguistics in the Dept. of Writing, Rhetoric and Discourse.

Fall 2016: ESL Instructor, Roosevelt University

- Taught an advanced ESL course in critical thinking.

Summers 2009 – 2013: Volunteer ESL Instructor, Various Community Centers,, Chicago

- Taught immigrants from around the world at mostly lower proficiency levels.

2011 – 2013: Graduate Student, MA-TESOL Program, University of Illinois at Chicago

- Tutored foreign students with a variety of backgrounds in English.
- Created an online task-based writing project website.

2008 – Present: Tutor & Editor

- Tutor clients in English, German, and other subjects.
- Edit MA theses and PhD dissertations for domestic and foreign students.

EDUCATION

MA, Applied Linguistics / TESOL, University of Illinois at Chicago

MA, Linguistics, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY

BA, Foreign Languages, West Virginia University, Morgantown, WV
Magna Cum Laude; Phi Beta Kappa

AA, General Studies, University of Maryland, Munich, Germany Campus
John S. Toll Award in Physical Sciences

References Available Upon Request